

The Hedberg

The Hedberg Desk Tray.
 During World War II, Carver Wood Products designed and manufactured wooden filing cabinets for the United States Government. These products gradually evolved to become known as Hedberg desk trays and card files, and today remain the standard by which desk trays and card files are specified in government contracts. Manufactured to exacting standards using only select hardwoods, all Hedberg designs include strong lock corners, hand-sanded finishing and tray undersides fully covered with felt. Free of screws and metal fasteners.

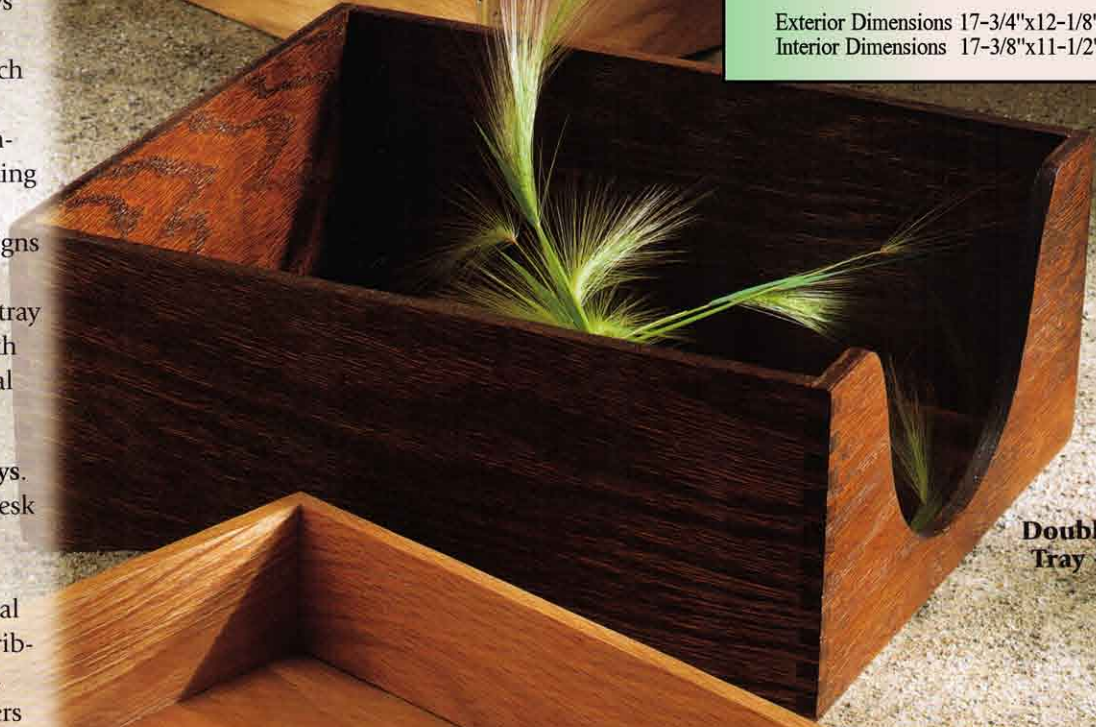

Hedberg Double-Deep Trays.
 Like the original Hedberg desk tray—with the exception of offering twice the depth. A durable, stackable and logical choice for mail rooms, distribution, shipping & receiving, order processing, shop orders and other areas of heavy paperwork. Remarkably serviceable for order picking, forms storage and dozens of other uses.
